Dear Mr. Brewster - Of course, you know, I am not responsible for the word "Prof"

Near the lower end of Cambridge Commons almost opposite Christ Church, in a stump, some thirty feet from the ground, is what appears to me to be a pigeon woodpecker's hole.

Is it not an unusual ⊕ extraordinary thing for a pigeon woodpecker (provided it is the work of one) to build so close to the commerce of Harvard square — ⊕ the electric car lines?

Sincerely
George Nash
